

August 15th, 2010

Welcome to the 2010 YMDA Ski trip,

While our thoughts are fully engaged with the splendors of summer, the trip committee is busy planning the 43rd annual YMDA ski trip. Colorado's Vail Mountain continues to be the destination of choice and will once again host the 2010 YMDA ski trip December, 8th – 12th. While Mother Nature has provided some of the best early season skiing imaginable, the folks at Manor Vail Lodge continue to work their magic to accommodate our every wish.

Now is the time to gather your friends and family and join us for what is sure to be a memorable five days of skiing. Space is limited to the first 120 skiers, so register today. Skiers of all abilities (and yes, snowboarders) are always welcome.

Newly remodeled, Manor Vail Lodge (www.manorvail.com) is conveniently located slope side giving easy access to the mountain. Our goal this year is to provide everyone an individual bed or sleeper sofa - no more roll-a-ways. Back by popular demand is the breakfast buffet served every morning. The get acquainted party and banquet, hosted at Manor Vail should be as always, satisfying and entertaining.

The trip committee, along with our travel guide, Tom Gray work diligently to bring you an exciting trip at a great value. Space is limited and fills up every year, so register early to reserve your spot and start your exercise program to ensure your fun.

Further details can be found at www.ymda.org

See you all in December,

Andy Schweizer
2010 YMDA Trip Chair